A general rehabilitation guide has been included in this developer's kit and is intended as a guide to rehabilitation planning for the developer making a proposal. A copy of the Kittredge Square Urban Renewal Plan; Chapter IV Project Proposals, Section 403, Rehabilitation has also been included as a guide.

APPENDIX 3

AFFORDABILITY STANDARDS

The following schedules will be used as guides for determining the low- and moderate-income housing generated by development plans. Please refer to the project guidelines where appropriate to determine the number of affordable units and the range of eligibility your development plans must include for approval.

The City of Boston calculates affordable rents and purchase prices as those affordable to a "low" or "moderate" income household paying no more than 30% of their adjusted gross income to rent or mortgage (inclusive of principal, interest, taxes, insurance and condominium fees). Federal regulations for the Department of Housing and Urban Development define these income categories as follows:

"Low-income" = less than 50% of the Boston SMSA median family income

"Moderate-income" = 50-80% of the Boston SMSA* median family income

* Please note that public agencies use 50% and 80% of the SMSA (Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area) median income as guidelines because the median income of Boston residents is substantially lower than that in the SMSA. The median income for Boston families in 1980 was only $16,062 compared to the SMSA median of $22,813 according to the U.S. Census. (The SMSA includes many higher income communities from the Greater Boston Area.) Income eligibility limits vary by family size. Attached is a page that lists the income limits for the City of Boston by category and the maximum monthly housing expense acceptable under these guidelines.

In general, units built to meet the Boston Redevelopment Authority's affordability requirements must be two and three bedroom units unless the City of Boston specifically sets a different standard in a planning document (e.g., Request for Proposals, etc.) or in circumstances where developers can demonstrate a specific neighborhood need for a different unit mix.

The following guide converts the number of persons per household into an appropriate units size, i.e., number of bedrooms:

Number of Persons	Number of Bedrooms
1	0 (studio)
1-2	1
2-4	2
3-6	3
5-8	4
7-10	5

(Boston Housing Authority's Section 8 Certificate Unit Size Standards were used for this conversion.)

+ GMI = Gross Monthly Income

* Maximum housing cost as x% of monthly income, in calculating possible purchase prices, this amount must include principal, interest, taxes and insurance and any relevant condominium fees.

Note also, that various financing subsidies use different guidelines for the allowable percent of monthly income. Adjust your calculations accordingly. (For example, MFHA allows 31% of gross monthly income for housing expense while some City of Boston Depts. lower the allowable housing expense for Low Income households from 30% to 25%, etc.).
